Introduction

How does one live their best life? Is it by taking risks or is it by simply doing the things they've always wanted to do? Well, if that is the case, should you just give up when things become tough or distasteful for you? Such questions often lead us down paths of confusion which pose more questions than answers.

This much is simple: The universe works through a set of basic laws whose existence is undeniable. Ancient spiritual teachers, through the practice of meditation, hinted at what science has only recently discovered. That nothing in this universe is constant and that everything is vibration.

Furthermore, this vibration produces an energy field; these energy fields attract and repel other fields and vibrations, which are either similar or dissimilar to them. Thus, living the life you want is simple. Simply vibrate at the energetic frequency of what you want and you will attract it into your life.

What does that sentence really mean though? Is it really that simple? If you could just think of what you want, will it really manifest into your life? Well, not quite. While the law of attraction definitely exists, it has been misinterpreted in many ways which has led to even more frustration for those who have practiced it, or to be more accurate, those who thought they were practicing it.

Like everything else, it begins with the basics.

To master anything, you need first to establish a good foundation upon which you can build. Unfortunately, a lot of the material out there about manifestation and creation miss the mark with this regard. By skipping some fundamental information, what people end up doing is running before they can crawl. Is it any wonder then, that they fail to manifest what they truly want?

The entire process of utilizing your subconscious to manifest desires is thoroughly misunderstood, and it is precisely this misunderstanding you will gain clarity on once you read this book. A vital component of the entire process of manifestation is faith. I'm not talking about faith in a religion or anything of that sort, but faith in the process.

If you don't understand the scientific and spiritual basis for manifestation techniques, you will likely not believe in them and thus, there is no way you can manifest the life you want to live, at least with ease and alignment. Faith is what moves mountains and in this case, faith is born out of “an opening of the mind to the truth . . . a plunge into the unknown,” as Alan Watts famously said.

The great thing about the advanced manifestation techniques you will learn in this book is that as you read along, you will gain a bedrock of information and knowledge within you. Once this is achieved, the miraculous power of your subconscious will be apparent to you because you've already experienced it.

That's right! You've already experienced the power of creation. It's just that you don't know it yet or haven't attuned yourself to it. Much like a baby who sees water for the first time and doesn't know what it is but drinks it anyway, you are constantly co-creating things but don't know the depth or the extent of power you're utilizing.

The laws of the universe are very simple. Thus, it is crucial for you to understand the way in which all things are connected before you proceed to use them. This is where this book can help you.

Who Am I?

It all started when I was down in the dumps myself. I read a few inspirational books and started practicing spiritual techniques because of the anxiety and depression that consumed me in my early adulthood. I needed something to be able to free me from it. Decoding the process of manifestation was certainly not my primary intention!

As I progressed further into freeing my mind from egoistic thinking, I began noticing changes in my life and how they correlated back to the way my thoughts flowed. At first, I didn't really understand what was going on but soon, I began experiencing and witnessing its effects around me. Clearly, I was doing something, but what exactly was I doing?

I decided to investigate further and as I learned, I began to become consciously aware of the universal connections all around us. The law of attraction is a very real thing; it is but a small cog in the overall machinery of how the universe works. I began understanding what I was doing and in the process, found my life's passion.

For close to a decade now, I have guided people to solve deep emotional problems in their lives and helped them realize how they can achieve their goals, no matter their current life situation. All you need to do is open your eyes and the answers will find you themselves. It really is that simple — you'll soon find out!

It is possible to attract the life of your dreams. Your past is exactly that: the past. It has gone and it will never return. Now is the moment for you to begin living your real-life and attracting all that you want for it.

Manifestation in the True Reality

Time is something that has a massive grip on all of us. We live our lives by the clock and have developed Pavlovian responses to it. The minute it strikes one in the afternoon, our stomachs rumble. The minute the clock goes past eleven at night on a weekday, we feel sleepy and so on.

Here's the thing: Time is no longer an asset, but a psychological need for the ego. It's just a construct we have created to organize ourselves better. Somewhere along the way, we forgot this and began treating time as the endgame to everything. We get caught up in our future and our past, and end up ignoring the only real component of time: the present.

Since time is a mental construct, we do not need to build our lives around it. What we need to do is choose the reality we wish to pull into the present moment. This may sound way out in left field, but it is simply the truth about how the true reality works. Your goals, aspirations and desires do not come with time but only when you change your inner perspective do you realize the true concept of shifting your reality.

Love, prosperity, and happiness are all available now. You need to realize the true reality that we are living in order to begin attracting what you want out of life. When you acknowledge this and take action, the universe responds in kind ways and sends you opportunities to lead yourself to fulfillment and happiness.

The universe is one generous machine and it gives you what you want, all the time. You are a creator and you are meant to create consciously instead of unconsciously as you've been doing thus far. You need to start recognizing the immense power you have to shift your life in the direction you want.

My Promise

True happiness is your right and is fully available to you, I guarantee it. You don't need to live in the situation you've created for yourself by living life on autopilot all the time. The information available in this book can shift your perspective on how to propel your life to greater heights.

This universal knowledge has helped people who lost everything or haven't achieved anything, realize the power they possess to manifest their best life. This book will open the eyes of those who feel they are eternally doomed to be stuck in their life situations and help them realize that they are powerful co-creators — both of the reality they currently have and the lifestyle they desire.

It is 100% possible for you to go from unhappy and broken to living a life of security and love. In return, all I ask is for you to have an open mind and trust the power that you have. Trust the universe. Trust that it is kind and benevolent, waiting to give you everything you want out of life. It doesn't want you to unconsciously stroll through life with no sense of purpose or direction.

Open your eyes to the miracles of the universe and watch how it rewards you with its gifts. Take control of your life by realizing your creative powers right now! After all, it is the only moment in time you have.

Chapter 1: The Multifaceted Reality

Reality is at once definite and temporary. It is both absolute and relative. Depending on one's viewpoints, reality can be hell or heaven or both at the same time. Understanding reality is the first step to knowing how you can manifest anything into your life. After all, if you cannot properly understand the state of things you live in, no amount of work will help you.

People who blindly apply spiritual techniques and methods of self-improvement are a lot like those who would use a rowboat to cross a desert. They're completely ignorant of what their environment is — how it affects them or not — and end up choosing the wrong tools.

So without further adieu, let's jump in and breakdown the reality of 'reality.'

The Nature of Reality

To truly understand what reality is, we need to deconstruct the very process of creation. After all, reality is full of things we create. For example, someone afraid of dogs will be afraid of all dogs, whether they're playful or vicious. The mental creations living in their mind creates their absolute reality. So how does creation occur in the first place?

The easiest way to understand this process is to simply look around you. What do you see? A book, a computer, a phone and so on. But what are you really seeing? Well, light of course! The things you see are visible to you
